JAMEY STAUB: Selected Discography as of 1/1/2008

Jamey Staub has been making records for twenty years. He has experience in many different styles of music, from jazz to hip-hop to rock. In his work with Pete Rock, Everlast, A Tribe Called Quest, Incubus, Luscious Jackson, Crash Test Dummies, and many others, Jamey blends the street energy and rhythmic drive of hip hop with rock-inspired songcraft and guitars. Best known for his mixing, Jamey is also an experienced producer, programmer, remixer and sound designer, and is very experienced with microphones and analog recording, as well as Logic Audio and Protools. He has written, recorded and mixed a number of movie soundtracks, done sound design for ABC sports and Fox Mobile, and is actively writing songs with such artists as Sophe Ellis-Bextor and Fred Schneider. Jamey arranged and mixed the album "Virgin Ubiquity II" for jazz legend Roy Ayers. He recorded four tracks on Alice Smith's album "For Dreamers, Lovers and Friends, which is nominated for a Grammy this year. He also mixed and recorded an independent release with producer Alex Elena for the new artist Pin Me Down. As a producer for radio, Jamey has successfully produced, recorded and edited Pete Fornatale's "Mixed Bag Radio" show with such artists as Taj Mahal, Regina Spektor, Don McLean and Judy Collins among many others.
